the leader's portrait produced in a variety of media (statues, coins, billboards, posters, stamps) is a key instrument of propaganda in totalitarian regimes but increasingly also dominates political communication in democratic countries as a result of the personalization and spectacularization of campaigning. Written by an international group of contributors, this volume focuses on the last one hundred years, covering a wide range of countries around the globe and dealing with dictatorial regimes and democratic systems alike, as well as discussing the effigies that are produced by the powers that be for propaganda purposes. It looks at the uses of portraiture by antagonistic groups or movements as forms of resistance, derision, denunciation and demonization. This volume will be of interest to researchers in visual studies, art history, media studies, cultural studies, politics and contemporary history.

among the main questions relating to the interpretation of popular religiosity phenomena there are those on the usefulness of historical sources (archaeological and documentary) for the purposes of understanding the mythical ritual present on the presumed chronological continuity of practices and beliefs and on the legitimacy and effectiveness of historical comparative method. These questions deserve to be taken up again on the basis of renewed investigations in the face of the now occurring dissolution of what has been defined as peasant civilization and the renewed interest in intangible heritage both by communities in search of identity matrices and cultural memories and by part of the so-called cultural market. This volume presents important works by Ignazio Buttitta.
